Havelsan Teams With Booz Allen Hamilton For Global Opportunities In Defense

WASHINGTON DC, June 3, 2013 - HAVELSAN today signed a Master Teaming Agreement with Booz Allen Hamilton to collaborate on global and local opportunities to provide advanced technical and other services to government and commercial clients. The agreement was signed at the Annual Conference on U.S.-Turkish Relations in Washington, D.C.

Under the agreement, HAVELSAN and Booz Allen Hamilton expect to develop a long-term relationship to jointly serve clients in the areas of cyber security, simulation & training technologies, e-government projects, critical infrastructure protection and border security capabilities. Target markets for joint offerings have been identified and include not only Turkey but also other countries through Foreign Military Sales (FMS) opportunities and NATO programs.

"HAVELSAN, will work as a local partner and a global actor with Booz Allen Hamilton, and would like to build a strong synergy and provide solutions to the relevant markets by utilizing both companies' well-known expertise and know-how." said Mr. Sadik YAMAC, General Manager and CEO for HAVELSAN.

"Booz Allen Hamilton today has a strong presence with technical and strategic capabilities in the Middle East North Africa region, providing cyber security services in the finance, health and other markets, as well as strategic and organizational design and full project life cycle support services to a variety of government and commercial clients. HAVELSAN's capabilities provide a strong complement to our own, and we look forward to extending our reach into Turkey and elsewhere in the region," said Booz Allen Vice President Charles Hamilton.
