Booz Allen Hamilton Issues "Leadership Perspectives" Videos

Six Interviews Highlight the Firm's Differentiation, Innovation, Challenges and Opportunities

MCLEAN, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Booz Allen Hamilton (NYSE:BAH), today released a set of six interviews with the firm's senior executives discussing the company's differentiation, innovation, challenges and business opportunities to better inform investors, clients and others about its work. The interviews are available here.

The interviews feature Chairman and CEO Ralph Shrader, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Sam Strickland, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Horacio Rozanski, along with Executive Vice President Karen Dahut, leader of the firm's Strategic Innovations Group, Executive Vice President Robin Portman, leader of Business Development, and Executive Vice President Bill Purdy, who leads Booz Allen Engineering Services.

The interviews are intended to provide a deeper level of information about the firm's operations, its strengths and differentiators, and its market positioning as Booz Allen moves toward its 100th anniversary in 2014, and beyond. The discussions were conducted before the current government shutdown period, and comments do not reflect impact of this event.

In the interviews, executives discuss Booz Allen's specific differentiators, the firm's efforts to adjust to the current market environment and better manage costs and cash, its focus on innovation, and the growth potential for engineering and technology services work.

Booz Allen will provide additional details about its business performance in the Oct. 30 announcement of its financial results for the second quarter of its Fiscal Year 2014, which ended Sept. 30, 2013. Information on that announcement and a conference call for analysts and institutional investors is here. Additional information for investors can be found at <http://investors.boozallen.com/>
