The new location reflects the evolving needs of Booz Allen's business, which requires flexible spaces that can enable and accelerate the company's advanced technology capabilities.

"We continue to invest in an innovative, optimized Booz Allen. Our new headquarters will provide our people, partners, and customers with upgraded resources to build the technologies that support national missions while rightsizing our facilities footprint," said Kristine Martin Anderson, chief operating officer at Booz Allen.

Interior build-out in the recently completed building is scheduled to begin in Summer 2026, with the new space expected to open in Fall 2027.

"Booz Allen's workforce strategy is centered on optimizing resources to help our highly technical workforce unlock innovation, today and into the future," said Jen Wagner, chief administrative officer at Booz Allen.

The new headquarters will include both 1870 Reston Row Plaza and multiple floors of 1800 Reston Row Plaza. The company's office at 8283 Greensboro Drive in McLean, Va. will be decommissioned in 2028.

"Booz Allen has been a top employer and business leader in the Washington metro area for decades. The Row at Reston Station reflects the best of Northern Virginia's economy, tech talent, and modern conveniences, and we are honored to welcome Booz Allen as part of our community," said Tim Steffan, chief operating officer of Comstock.
