Booz Allen Wins Army Contract to Support National Environmental Policy Act Planning

McLean, VA —Booz Allen Hamilton announced today that it was awarded a contract by the U.S. Army Environmental Command (USAEC) to provide environmental planning services and documentation to support the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). The Blanket Purchase Agreement is valued at $35 million with a three year base period and two option years.

The agreement provides Booz Allen with the opportunity to research and prepare Environmental Impact Statements and Environmental Assessments for Army installations, employing its environmental expertise in the areas of air and water quality, natural resources, and cultural resources.

“For more than a decade, Booz Allen has served as a trusted partner to the U.S. Army Environmental Command,” said Angela Messer, Senior Vice President, Booz Allen. “The inclusion of Booz Allen on this important contract is a testament to the company’s past successes and innovative capabilities to help the Army navigate the wide range of issues addressed by the National Environmental Policy Act in support of the nation.”
