U.S. EPA Awards Booz Allen a Spot on Competitive $115M ITS-BISS III Contract Vehicle to Provide Information Management and Technology Solutions

MCLEAN, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- The Office of Environmental Information (OEI) of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) adopts and implements innovative information technology and management solutions, supporting EPA's mission to protect human health and the environment. EPA awarded Booz Allen Hamilton (NYSE: BAH) a spot on a $115 million, five-year, indefinite delivery/indefinite quality (IDIQ) contract to provide a broad range of information technology (IT) and information management technical and professional services. The ITS-BISS III multi-award contract vehicle offers integrated program support services to help EPA comply with key federal statutes and policies.

"Creating integrated information management and technology solutions is more than a technical undertaking," said Amy Norgren Salfi, principal at Booz Allen. "It requires an agile team with the skills to quickly adapt to change in today's data-driven world. We are honored to partner with EPA to streamline information management services, provide innovative solutions, and improve access to data, which will equip the Agency with new insight into the environmental and human health challenges we are facing. Problem-solving is in Booz Allen's DNA, and we look forward to applying our blend of consulting and technical expertise to help EPA protect human health and the environment in an efficient, effective manner."

Booz Allen is working with government and commercial clients on critical energy projects in a variety of sectors, helping organizations maximize investments to turn future challenges into opportunities for growth. Read more at www.boozallen.com/markets/energy-resources-and-utilities.html
